

- You have the right to access and receive an accounting of disclosures regarding your own health information as permitted by law.
- You have the right to share your concerns about the care or services you are receiving. If you have a problem or complaint, you may talk with your doctor, nurse or any member of your healthcare team. You may also call our Patient Advocate at 484-628-8663 or: patientadvocates@towerhealth.org. You have the right to contact the Pennsylvania Department of Health, Room 532 Health & Welfare Building, 625 Forster Street, Harrisburg, PA 17120. Phone: 800-254-5164.
- You have the right to contact hospital management if a concern you have about patient care or safety has not been addressed. If your concerns cannot be resolved through the hospital, you may also contact the Joint Commission. Phone: 800-994-6610. Email: patientsafetyreport@jointcommission.org

Our Responsibilities to You
Reading Hospital accepts these responsibilities as part of our mission to provide you with the healthcare services you need.

- We will provide the best healthcare possible in a safe, clean, quiet and pleasant environment.
- We will provide education to help patients and their families understand the illness, what they can do about it and, when possible, how to stay healthy after recovery.
- We will provide you with options for treatment that may be needed at another facility, as an outpatient or at home.

- We will provide mental health, spiritual and social services if requested by you or your doctor.
- We will provide a Patient Advocate to receive suggestions on how we can improve our services.
- We will provide you with a Patient Information booklet to help you and your family learn what to expect during your hospital experience.

Your Responsibilities to the Hospital
To help us help them, our patients have responsibilities to provide the hospital with certain information and support.

- Please keep your appointments with us.
- Please play an active role in your care.
- Please be open and honest with us about the health and pain management information we give you. Let us know immediately if you do not understand it, or if you feel that you cannot follow the instructions we give you.
- Please tell your doctor and healthcare team about any changes in your health, including any pain you may be experiencing.
- Please report any concerns you may have regarding your safety to any member of your healthcare team, Patient Advocate 484-628-8663 or patientadvocates@towerhealth.org or to hospital management. If your concern cannot be resolved by the hospital, please contact the Joint Commission. Phone: 800-994-6610. Email: patientsafetyreport@jointcommission.org

- Please be considerate of our other patients by following our guidelines on the number of visitors, visiting hours, noise level and tobacco-free environment. Please be sure that your visitors are considerate also.
- Please help us protect confidentiality and personal privacy – yours and that of our other patients.
- Please provide the benefits plan information necessary to process your hospital bill.
- Please pay your part of the hospital bill as soon as possible. If you think you will have problems with your bill, please let us know.

These rights and responsibilities apply to all patients, including children.

When the patient is a minor, the parent or guardian assumes these rights on behalf of the child.

When an adult patient is unable to exercise these rights, that patient's legally responsible representative may exercise these rights on behalf of the patient.

- If you have any concerns about your Patient Rights and Responsibilities, please call the Patient Advocate Office at 484-628-8663 or patientadvocates@towerhealth.org.

Reading Hospital

TOWER HEALTH

Advancing Health. Transforming Lives.

420 S. Fifth Avenue
West Reading, PA 19605
www.towerhealth.org

Patient Rights and Responsibilities

Reading Hospital

TOWER HEALTH

Advancing Health. Transforming Lives.

Your Rights

We believe that our patients, their families, friends and support persons should be treated with respect, understanding and compassion. These are your rights as our patient – reflecting our commitment to maintaining your personal dignity.

- You, or your representative when appropriate, have the right to be informed of all your rights at the earliest possible moment in the course of your hospital stay.
- You have the right to receive respectful healthcare from competent professionals without unnecessary delay, no matter your race, ethnicity, national origin, culture, language, age, creed, physical or mental disability, sex, sexual orientation, personal values, beliefs, preferences, gender identity or expression, socioeconomic status or source of payment.
- You have the right to receive complete information about your illness and treatment in words you can understand so that you can be involved in your care planning and treatment. Your entire healthcare team is committed to giving you information and answering your questions. When not medically advisable to communicate this information to you, this information will be provided on your behalf to your next of kin or other appropriate person.
- You have the right to know the names of all the people taking care of you and their functions.
- You have the right to have a family member, friend or support person notified promptly about your admission to the hospital.
- You have the right to have your personal doctor notified promptly about your admission, and be kept up-to-date about your illness and treatment.
- You have the right to be told by your doctor of any test, procedure or treatment that has risks, and to give informed consent for this test, procedure or treatment to be done. In emergencies, or if you are too ill or otherwise cannot understand this information, you have the right to have your family member, friend or other support person told.
- You have the right to say “no” to any treatment and to leave the hospital at any time. You have the right to hear from your doctor what may happen if you refuse the treatment or leave. There may be times that care must be provided based on the law.
- You have the right to make choices now and to document those choices in case you become too ill to speak for yourself later. This right to choose is called an Advance Directive. You may choose someone to make healthcare decisions for you. You may also choose what treatments you would like or not like to have done.
- You have the right to be told by your doctor about any research or donor program that may be helpful to you. You have the right to have all of your questions answered, and then to give informed consent if you wish to become part of the research or donor program. You also have the right to refuse to continue in such a program at any time. If you are too ill or otherwise unable to understand this information, a legally responsible party will receive the information, provide consent and/or discontinue your participation in the research or donor program.
- You have the right to see all information in your medical record within a reasonable time of your request. If your doctor feels you should not see this information for medical reasons, you have the right to have someone else review your record.
- You have the right to keep your medical record and other healthcare information confidential. You need to know that we are required by law to share some types of information. We also need to provide information to your benefits plan in order for your care to be covered.
- You have the right to be informed about continuing healthcare needs to be addressed following your discharge, as well as about recommended methods for addressing those needs.
- You have the right to personal privacy.
- You have the right to visitation from family members, friends or other support persons.
- You have the right to restrict or limit your visitors. Visitation may be restricted or limited when visitors would interfere with your care or the care of other patients.
- You have the right to receive care in a safe setting and to be free from all forms of abuse, harassment, neglect or mistreatment.
- You have the right to be free from restraints or seclusion of any form imposed as a means of coercion, discipline, convenience or retaliation by staff.
- You have the right to get information about the pain you may experience and ways to prevent or reduce your pain. You also have the right to prompt response when you tell us about pain you are having.
- You have the right to have interpreting services, provided at no charge if you do not speak English.
- You have the right to have a sign language interpreter or other devices to assist you and ensure effective communication provided at no charge if you are deaf or hard-of-hearing.
- You have the right to full information about your hospital bill if you request it.
- You have the right to full information and counseling on the availability of known financial resources for your healthcare.
- You have the right to know what hospital rules and regulations apply to your conduct as a patient.
- You have the right to expect emergency procedures to be implemented without unnecessary delay.
- You have the right to assistance in obtaining consultation with another physician at your request and your expense.
- You have the right to expect good management techniques at the hospital to use your time effectively and avoid personal discomfort.
- You have the right to good quality care and high professional standards that are continually maintained and reviewed.
- You, when medically permissible, have the right to be transferred to another facility only after you or your representative have received complete information concerning the need for and alternatives to such a transfer. The institution to which you would be transferring must first accept you for transfer.
- You have the right to access an individual or agency authorized to act on your behalf to assert or protect your rights as set forth in this document.
- You have the right to be informed about unanticipated outcomes of care, treatment and services.